

Games-based Learning Exhibition

Making learning fun for people 16+
with learning or sensory disabilities!

Deaf Cultural Centre, Birmingham
24th September 2010

9:30am - 12:30pm (lunch & networking included)

If you are involved in supporting people aged 16+ with learning and/or sensory disabilities and want to help them get and keep a job, then this is the exhibition for you!

The exhibition will showcase a range of serious games for computers and mobile telephones that will help people develop independent life skills and prepare for working life. Each game has been designed to provide key skills and learning in a number of areas including how to travel to/from work, personal hygiene, money management, improving Maths skills, and supermarket shopping.

Programme

9:30am	Arrival & registration
10:00am	Overview of Project
10:30am - 11:30am	Games demonstrations
11:30am	Q&A
12:00pm	Lunch & networking
1:00pm	Exhibition ends

Book a place

There is no charge to attend the exhibition, but as places are limited, those wishing to attend should contact Lisa Davies by email at lisa.davies@bid.org.uk for a booking form as soon as possible. Please note there are no walk-ins permitted.

Visit www.goet-project.eu for more information about this project.

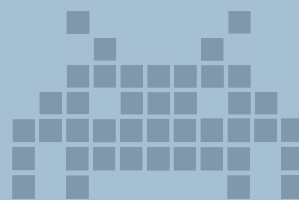

Education and Culture DG

Lifelong Learning Programme

UK/08/LLP=LdV/TOI/163-181

The GOET exhibition has been funded with the support of the European Commission. The content of this project does not necessarily reflect the position of the Commission, nor does it involve any responsibility on its part.

GAME ON EXTRA TIME

Who should attend?

- Educationalists
- Heads of Faculties
- Job Centres
- Key & Basic Skills
- Tutors
- Local Authorities
- Social Service providers
- Pre-vocational training groups

Why should I attend?

- Learn first-hand about games-based learning
- See a demonstration of all of the games
- Talk to the developers, users & testers
- Opportunity to introduce the games to your own learners as part of a blended learning approach
- Free games memory stick, handbook and goodie bag

